About Me ,

I'm a UI/UX Designer and Full-Stack Developer with 8+ years of experience building end-to-end digital products — from user research, wireframing, and prototyping to production-ready code in React, Angular, PHP, and Node.js. My design process covers the full UX lifecycle: user research, information architecture, interaction design, and usability testing — backed by hands-on development so nothing gets lost in handoff.

I've worked across enterprise SaaS (POS systems, warehouse management), healthcare platforms, and business websites — building responsive, accessible interfaces backed by solid technical architecture. I also actively use AI-assisted workflows (Cursor, Claude) to accelerate development timelines.
